

Flight Mill Program

I attached the file you need to download to your desktop. After you have downloaded the zip file to your desktop you need to unzip the file. If you are on Windows XP, you need to right click the file on your desktop, and select "Extract All". This will unzip the files and allow you to open the files with no problems. The files have to be unzipped before they will work correctly. After you get the files downloaded, you need to open the "Flight Assay New Logging Prompt" folder, which will have four different files inside it. Open the "Flight Assay New.vi" file and then do the following:

*Click the "Initialization" tab.

*Set the "Start Time" and the "End Time".

*Click the arrow in the top left corner and then the "START" button on the left side, under "Time to Log?" bar.
